

Explanation of the Course: An independent study course, with the assistance of an instructor, designed to give the student an elementary grasp of biblical Greek grammar and vocabulary. The course requires a good deal of memorization, but the material is broken up over a year to make it manageable.

Required Materials:

- David Alan Black, Learn to Read New Testament Greek
 - Available in hard copy at Amazon.com
 - (Recommended) Available in electronic form from Logos Bible Software
 - Note that the instructor does not get a commission on digital sales; there are advantages the digital version, but the hard copy book may be used.

- Internet access is required for two reasons:
 - Assorted course videos will be posted in the Google Group created for the course.
 - The Google group is a place where those taking the course can interact and post questions. Posted questions will be addressed in the Week 2 video (see format explanation below).
 - Group name: MEMRA GREEK01 MODULE 3
NOTE: You will receive an email from the Group when your professor has added you to the group. Follow any directions given in that email with respect to the Group.

- The Adobe Acrobat Reader
 - Most computers already come with the Adobe Reader (though notebooks do not). If you do not have the Adobe Reader installed on your computer, you will need to download and install it. It is free and found here: <http://get.adobe.com/reader>

- A video player on your computer
 - Most computers also have a default video player (e.g. Windows Media Player, Quicktime, etc.). If you do not have a video player on your computer, you must download and install one. I recommend REAL Player. It is a very good player and it is free. The link for the download is <http://www.real.com/realplayer>

Course Schedule

The course begins on Monday, March 14, 2010. The course will follow the schedule below. It is designed to run for one year in two-week units. Units will at times skip weeks due to holidays.

Explanation of the Two-Week Unit Format

During Week 1 of the two-week unit:

- (1) Students should begin each unit with the video overview of the assigned chapter(s) for the two-week unit.
- (2) Students should also view any other posted videos covering vocabulary or other topics.

- (3) Students read through the assigned chapter(s) for the two-week unit.
- (4) Students attempt to memorize the vocabulary given in the chapter(s) assigned for the two-week unit.
- (5) Students attempt the exercises at the end of the assigned chapter(s).

NOTE: The grammar contains an answer key that the student may consult AFTER attempting the exercises. See below for Week two of the unit for more on the exercises.

During Week 2

At the beginning of week two, students should watch the video(s) on the exercises for the assigned chapter(s). The goal is for the student to check his/her work and to understand why he or she made any mistakes on the exercises. Once again, students can also utilize the answer key for the exercises contained in the grammar.

NOTE: Students are encouraged to use the Google Group for the course to post questions. Since the videos will be posted at the beginning of Week 2, students need to start each unit promptly so the instructor gets their questions in time for the video.
